Lakeside ~ 01 September

About fourteen cars attended the All Aussie Father's Day event at Lakeside Park. A beautiful spring day with a slight sprinkle of rain earlier but this was mostly localised around the Kallangur area. Club members met at BP South for the run to Lakeside and on arrival were directed to their allocated park which was on the hill behind the pits. The highlight of the day was the 15 minutes of track time allocated to each of the clubs and groups. This is a fantastic opportunity for drivers of all abilities to get the most out of their car in a controlled environment. Prior to being let loose on the track, representatives of the Club were given a full safety briefing to ensure that drivers were aware of what was expected of them whilst on the track. In all, a great and an enjoyable day and without doubt, members will be looking forward to the Lakeside track day.

AGM ~ 04 September

A good turnout for the AGM with 45 people in attendance. Cathy chaired the meeting, and as always, did an excellent job. At the previous few AGMs, it had been a struggle to fill the committee positions, and understandably, as some of the positions do require a bit of time. Surprisingly the three most demanding positions were filled with relative ease; namely secretary, editor and show 'n shine coordinator. Probably Lance was the surprised the most as he thought he was going to wear the secretary and newsletter editor jobs for another term. Thanks to all those who put their hands-up to volunteer their time for which the Club is extremely grateful. It is understood that Dennis is now in his fifth year as President. He's on a roll and one which he obviously enjoys. On'ya Dennis!

Noted above are two positions which remain vacant. It is important that these two positions are filled, particularly the swap meet coordinator as the Club's sole source of income is generated from the yearly show 'n shine and swap meet. Without these two combined events the Club would be in dire straits. Having these two events is of enormous benefit to the Club and its members for it allows for membership fees to be kept low and also for the cost of the Club shirts to be subsidised. In addition, the prime focus for the Club is to assist local charities. Should the show 'n shine and swap meet be discontinued, the loss of funds would mean higher membership fees, higher costs for the shirts and reduced charity support.

Please have a think about the above. Anyone desirous in taking-on the swap meet and assisting with the show 'n shine should contact the President or the Secretary.

Lastly, thank you to those you have volunteered their time to be on the 2013-2014 committee and to all who attended and supported the AGM.

Jokey of the week from Cyril ... A hearse travelling down Bourke Street, Melbourne, on one of those dreary, wintry, wet-everything days the city is noted for. Suddenly a bicycle rider makes a manoeuvre that necessitates the hearse driver jumping on the brakes, and as a result, the hearse spins around 90 degrees. While mounting the footpath the near side of the hearse crashes into a power pole that springs the rear doors wide open. The casket shoots out on the rollers with enough speed that it clears the footpath and crashes through a chemist shop front window. As the casket is still travelling through the chemist shop the corpse puts his head out of the casket and says, "Can you give me something to stop this coffin?"

Number plates used to track drivers

POLICE can capture the whereabouts of any vehicle on Queensland roads at any time and will use the information to charge criminals.

The location of 25,000 registered number plates are being stored by police each week under a trial that has alarms civil libertarians.

The move is part of a Broadened Automatic Number Plate Recognition (ANPR) trial which uses GPS systems and cameras fitted in police vehicles. It means that if a motorist drives past a police vehicle, their position is recorded. The information will be stored for one year and one day. The trial will end in June 2014.

While police are using the information to find unregistered vehicles, sources admit it could also be used to record motorists near crime scenes.

"If a request is made by a police officer for a search of the ANPR database to be conducted and the request is substantiated and approved by a commissioned officer as supporting the investigation or prosecution of a criminal offence, the recorded ANPR information can be lawfully used by the Queensland Police Service", police said in a statement.

The Queensland Police Service has strict accountability measures in place where tracing the movements of thousands of Queenslanders through their mobile records.

Even the phone records of their own officers were being pulled to determine if they had faked sickies, had had sex with cadets at the academy or bunked-off while on duty.

Queensland council for Civil Liberties president Andrew Sinclair said the trial was concerning. "At least there is an act governing the telcos (when police ask them for information) but there's nothing governing how they collect and use the numberplates." Mr Sinclair said. "And I bet it ends-up getting used for all sorts of things."

Queensland Police Privacy Commissioner Lemm Ex said his office had been appraised for the trial. "Number plates are not themselves personal information," Mr Ex said.

"The significant factor is not the capture of number plates but their recognition and the linking with an individual. If that linking is conducted for law enforcement activities, no privacy issues arise with it."

Queensland Police Service has trialled the technology previously.

BLOODY WOMEN DRIVERS

Recently while driving along the Gateway, I looked over to my right and there was this woman in a brand new sports car doing at least 120 km/h with her face buried in her rear view mirror putting on her eyeliner. I looked away for a couple seconds and when I looked back she was halfway over into my lane, still working on the makeup.

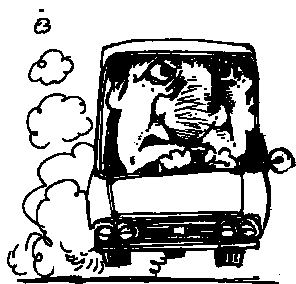

As a male, I don't scare easily, but I tell you she scared me so much that I dropped my electric shaver, which knocked the quarter-pounder out of my other hand. In all the confusion of trying to straighten-up the car using my knees against the steering wheel, it knocked my mobile phone away from my ear which fell into the coffee between my legs, splashed and burned Big Jim and the Twins, ruined the damn phone and disconnected an important call. Bloody women drivers!

Mint Julep ~ Where Did It All Start? Mint Julep was a popular colour of the mid-1970s which graced many Holdens of that period. Mint Julep (GM-H Paint Code 1915) derives its name from a mixed alcoholic drink, or cocktail, distinctive to the southern United States of America. A Mint Julep is traditionally made of four ingredients: mint, bourbon, sugar, and water. In the use of sugar and mint, it is similar to the Mojito, a cocktail made from Bacardi. The drink was probably invented sometime in the 18th Century. U.S. Senator Henry Clay introduced the drink to Washington D.C. and the Revenge Rage: Victims of road rage who plot reprisals may be suffering from a new road symptom called "Revenge Rage". A British survey, which found that one in six drivers admitted to plotted paybacks, suggests revenge rage is no less dangerous than road rage. It seems that these drivers admit to being inwardly furious, and brooding long and hard about motoring incidents.

Did you know that the windscreen wiper on your classic, in average use, can work efficiently for no more than about a year, during which time it wipes about 20 hectares of glass. Fit new blades every autumn. This will ensure the efficiency of your wipers and will reduce scratching of your windscreen. Never, never run your wipers on a dry screen.

Did you know that it is believed that over six billion people inhabit this planet and each has an average of 14 flatulence eruptions per day. This means that by the time you read this article, there will be about 4.9 million farts worldwide.

The sign states: 'Keep Left Unless Overtaking'. It's a simple instruction which should be easy to abide by. So why do many drivers struggle with the concept?

Keeping to the left on multi-lane roads is the safe and sensible thing to do because it means that all overtaking is done on the right. The laws of some states prohibit overtaking in the left lane and drivers can be fined if caught doing it.

This doesn't apply only on motorways, it also makes sense in suburban arterial roads, except, perhaps when traffic is heavy.

Keeping to the left at all times is recommended by traffic authorities on multi-lane roads, not just motorways. When the speed limit is higher than 80km/h, it is no longer a recommendation, it is compulsory.

There are seldom any problems if there are two lanes on motorways.

The majority of drivers do the right thing and use the left lane, but give them three lanes, and it all goes out the window with a surprising number of drivers ignoring the left lane altogether and cruising in the centre lane. This means that the driver doing the right thing and travelling in the left lane has to change lanes no fewer than four times to safely

This just doesn't make sense and can lead to the constant weaving in-and-out of traffic so hair-raising at times.

The slower drivers often blame the faster ones for this excessive lane changes, however the fault frequently lies with the one in the slow car who is in the wrong lane. The fault also lies with the drivers driving under the speed limit.

I drive the D'Aguliar Highway between Caboolture and D'Aguliar regularly. At the bottom of the D'Aguliar Range there is a humongous sign which reads 'Keep Left Unless Overtaking', yet inconsiderate drivers regularly sit in the right-hand lane, many travelling at below the 90kmh speed limit thereby effectively blocking any chance of faster cars from overtaking. Then there is the other extreme where drivers, once commencing the climb up the range, think they are on pit straight at Bathurst, all the while, remaining in the right-hand lane.

So, please 'Keep Left Unless Overtaking'.

Lance.

northern United States. The word 'Julep' is derived from the Persian 'Julab' meaning 'rose water'.

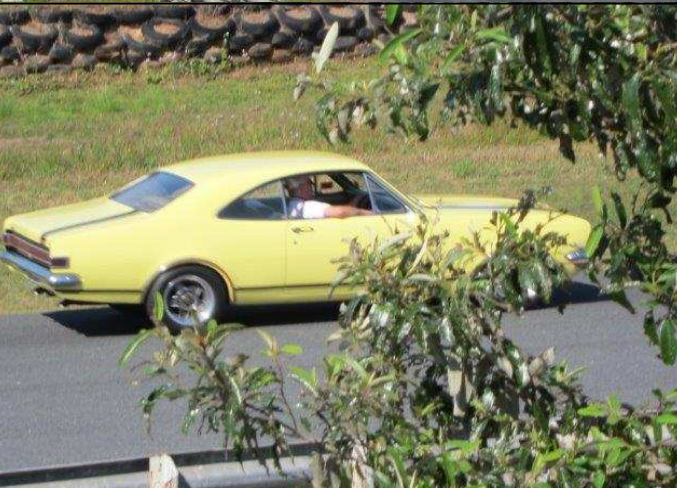

Traditionally, Mint Juleps were often served in silver or pewter cups, and held only by the bottom or top edges. This allows frost to form on the outside of the cup, which some would find a sign of gentility. Others merely find it nice to look at ... however most people prefer to get pissed on Mint Julep rather than look at it!

Special Interest Vehicle Registration (SIV) ~ 'Concessional' or 'Club Rego'

To qualify for 'Concessional' or 'Club Rego' registration, new members must attend four (4) Club-sanctioned activities or Club meetings within the first six (6) months of membership. Thereafter new and present members holding concessional registration must attend four (4) Club-sanctioned activities or Club meetings each year in order to retain the concessional registration. Failure to comply may result in a recommendation to the Department of Transport and Main Roads for forfeiture of the registration.

Some facts for Special Vehicle Registration:

Registering your vehicle under the Special Interest Vehicle Registration Concession Scheme:

Historic Vehicles

You will need to follow the standard registration procedures for a vehicle as well as completing a Vehicle Registration Concession Application (form F3937) and providing the following documents as proof of eligibility:

Club Membership: Evidence of current membership with an incorporated vehicle club or association must be provided at the time of application for the concession.

Historic Vehicle and Dating Certificate: A dating officer (or club official) of an incorporated vehicle club or association must inspect the vehicle to certify the vehicle's authenticity and year of manufacture, that is, no structural modifications have been made that would deem it as manufactured at the date it was modified. This certificate must be on club letterhead or other official club documentation and include the chassis number or vehicle identification number.

Vehicles fitted with a modification plate, code LH10 are not eligible for a special interest vehicle concession.

Vehicles registered under the scheme have certain limitations placed on their use. This is reflected in the reduced fees and compulsory third party insurance premium. Registered operators must confine their vehicle's use to:

- Participating in rallies organised by incorporated vehicle clubs.
- Participating in processions for which a Special Events Permit has been issued under the Transport Operations (Road Use Management –Accreditation and Other Provisions) Regulation 2005.
- Exhibiting the vehicle in displays, fetes or similar functions conducted for religious, charitable or educational purposes.
- Ceremonial purposes (weddings, formals) involving immediate family members provided this is not done for fee or reward. Immediate family means parents, grandparents, sons, daughters, grandchildren but not extended family relationships such as nephews and nieces.
- Preparing for, proceeding to, and returning from the above activities.
- Direct travel to and from an Approved Inspection Station (AIS) for the purposes of obtaining a safety certificate before offering the vehicle for sale.
